Trade Secret, Trademark, Trade Dress & Copyright Litigation

AVH has brought and defended against charges of trade secret misappropriation, trademark, trade dress and copyright infringement and has been involved in a wide range of Internet-related litigation. AVH possesses broad experience in all phases of trade secret litigation. Our attorneys have defended allegations of trade secret theft and counseled our clients on avoiding liability for new product development and the hiring of employees from competitors. When there is a threat of misappropriation of proprietary information, AVH works with clients to preserve their rights. We have successfully defended many clients against claims of trade mark and trade dress infringement, as well as claims dilution . On behalf of artists, we have asserted numerous copyright infringement claims to protect their unique works.
